RIGI meeting for AB, BM, and SIG leaders – March 24-27, CERN, Geneva, Switzerland

DSJ- Journal of Design Research – has been launched. Please submit articles!

JDR is an interdisciplinary journal, emphasising human aspects as a central issue of design through integrative studies of social sciences and design disciplines.

Objectives:

- * To bring together theories, models and actual products from related design areas, including engineering, architecture, industrial design and planning
- * To emphasise human aspects as a central issue of design through integrative studies of social sciences and design disciplines
- * To offer a platform for high-quality research, theory making, analysis, education, and practice

- * To support the dialogue between practitioners and academics, avoiding a purely academic discussion on design science

- * To highlight new developments in artifact design
